CROKER GOES TO LAKEWOOD

ATTITUDE OF THE M'LAUGHLIN PEOPLE TOWARD THE NEW STATE COM-BINATION.

Richard Croker yesterday went to Lakewood, to stay over Sunday. He started at 3:20 o'clock in a special car, and was accompanied by Mayor-elect Van Wyck, District-Attorney-elect Gardiner, Na-then Straus, John J. Scannell, James B. Pustis, John F. Carroll and W. E. D. Stokes, Before going Mr. Croker reiterated that there would e no slate-making and that the outing was one for rest and recreation alone. He said that the appointments to be made by Mayor-elect Van Wyck would be announced January 1, and no

One of the things being commented upon by Tam-one of the things being commented upon by Tam-many men yesterday was that so far no direct ap-plication has been made by any member of the Brooklyn organization for patronage. This is looked upon as ominous. A number of informal suggestions have come to hand, but there is nothing that can be looked upon as indicative of the wishes of the McLaughlin organization. Some time ago Mr. Croker declared publicly that Tammany Hall was not trying to absorb the Brooklyn organization and that Brooklyn would get its fair share of patronage. The silence, in the light of this volunteered information, is said to mean that Mr. McLaughim and his followers are waiting to see what is expected of them in return for this

This silence is explained by the war that the Croker-Murphy-Grant faction is represented as having declared upon ex-Senator Hill, Mr. Mc-Laughlin for years has been a friend and follower of Mr. Hill, and the Brooklyn organization will probably be with Hill in his struggle to control the next State Convention of the Sage of Willough-by Street can control it. The obligation exacted from McLaughlin in return for his portion of the patronage is fealty to the new combination. Mr. McLaughlin hasn't decided yet to desert Hill for the patronage. Brooklyn doesn't inter its identity in Tammany Hall, and if this is the price of the offices Brooklyn will go it alone.

The first test of strength will be made when minority leader is named in the Assembly. Mr. McLaughlin controls fifteen members of the As-sembly. This number, joined with the Croker-Murphy-Grant combination, would insure the selection of "Battery Dan" Finn, who is the candidate of the "combine." On the other hand, Hill's candidate is Assemblyman Palmer, of Schoharie. It is more than probable that Mr. McLaughlin's delegation will be found voting with the Murphy people.

In the event of a too dictatorial policy toward the Willoughby-st, organization on the part of Mr. Croker, so a close friend of Mr. McLaughlin said yesterday, the gage of battle will be thrown down, and Mr. Croker can have all the trouble he wants. Bird S. Coler, the new Controller, will do the bidding of his friends and associates across the Bridge, and he can make it exceptionally warm for Mr. Van Wyck's administration if he so chooses So both sides are playing a waiting game.

It was learned yesterday that the struggle in the XXVth Assembly District had a great deal to do with the trouble between Croker and Hill. A. W. Orr was the Tammany candidate. He is a friend and a distant relative of Senator Murphy. In the last Presidential campaign he followed Senator Murphy's advice and took an active part in the interest of Mr. Bryan. He was rewarded for this by the nomination for Assembly. Ex-Senator Hill, already foreseeing the combination to be built up against him, decided that Orr's election would be detrimental to his interests. Orr called upon State Chairman Danforth, then working with Hill, to induce the National Democracy candidate to get out of the field. Mr. Danforth could have done this, and, in fact, at a late hour succeeded in getting a change of candidates. Orr was defeated by the Citizens Union candidate. It is now charged that it was due to a trick of Mr. Danforth that he was defeated. The Murphy-Croker combination, and gered over this loss of support, "spoke out in meetin." It was learned yesterday that the struggle detected over this loss of support, "spoke out in meetin".

While it is generally understood that the new combination is for the nomination of Mr. Grant for Governor next year, shrewd observers say that its leaders are playing fine politics, and that they are simply putting Grant forth as a blind. Chairman Danforth was generally considered Hill's candidate for the nomination until he heard that Hill had declared himself for John B. Stanchfield. Then Danforth, after the upheaval, suddenly crawled over into the Murphy-Croker camp. It is Mr. Hill's hope that the Croker-Murphy combination will go to the State Convention with Grant as a candidate, for he thinks he could beat that plan with ease. It is Danforth whom he fears, and some people didnik that the new combination, to which Danforth has declared allegiance, will go to the convention with the State chairman as a candidate, and that would mean a lively tussle for Hill.

Lakewood, N. J., Nov. 2 (Special).—The Tammany

Nov. 2 (Special).-The Tammany party arrived in Lakewood shortly after this evening and went at once to the Lakewood Hotel. After dinner Mr. Croker and his companions gathered in the office of the hotel and spent the rest of the evening in conversation. It was stated by a member of the party that no conference on political matters had taken place.

PENNSYLVANIA POLITICS.

THE FIELD AGAINST QUAY, MARTIN AND MAGEE.

Harrisburg, Nov. 25th, 1897. The recent apparent reconciliation of David Martin and Christopher Magee with Senator Quay premises to lead to unusual complications in Pennsylvania politics, within the approaching six months.

It is believed that some sort of working arrangement now exists between these three gentlemen, by which Messrs. Martin and Magee will be given a free hand in the State politics, while an equally free hand in National politics will be left to the Senator by his old opponents.

It is supposed that the programme, as now arranged, includes the nomination of Mr. Peter A. B. Widener, of Philadelphia, for Governor in 1898, and, of course, the re-election of Senator Quay. It is believed that a combination of outside candidates for Governor is likely to be formed against this arrangement, and that it may include the Hon. Wm. A. Stone, of Allegheny; Hon. Charles W. Stone, of Warren; Hon. Thad M. Mahon, of Chambersburg; Hon. John Leisenring, of Wilkesbarre; Hon. Wm. Connell, of Scranton; Gen. John P. S. Gobin, of Lebanon, and Hon. Wayne MacVeagh, of Philadelphia. The gossip now is that each of these men -or as many of them as think there is any such chance for them as to warrant their entering the contest-will get what support they can for Governor, and as the time approaches, and their strength has been developed, will combine on the one who can get the most votes against Widener. A preliminary skirmish in Philadelphia in January next may develop the situation more clearly, and show the alignment of the several personal and political interests now active in Pennsylvania politics. This skirmish will be over the nomination and election of a Tax Receiver. The office is an important one, being for three years, and with an annual salary of $12,000 and very large patronage. The present incumbent is the brotoer-in-law of David Martin. The political pot in Philadelphia is already beginning to bubble over the question of his renomination and re-election, and the public will watch its result as a clew to next year's politics in the Keystone State.

REPUBLICANS THOUGH FUSIONISTS.

ALL DOUBT REMOVED AS TO THE ATTITUDE OF THE LEGISLATORS FROM CINCINNATI.

Cincinnati, Nov. 26.-At the recent election the Fusion ticket, which carried this county, elected nine Democrats and five Republican members of the Legislature. There has been some doubt as to how the Republican Fusionists would vote on joint now the Republican Fusionists would vote on joint ballot for United States Senator. At the meeting of these Fusionists here they decided to vote for the Republican caucus nominee, which will make the Legislature stand 80 Republicans to 65 Democrats on joint ballot for United States Senator.

THE CUBAN AND IMMIGRATION QUESTIONS

The West End Women's Republican Association eld a well-attended session in its new clubrooms, Boulevard and Eighty-third-st., yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Mrs. C. S. Robinson called the meeting to order, and later Mrs. Clarence Burns, the resident, presided. Mrs. Kate Bostwick, president of the Republican Women's Union League Club, of Brooklyn, was the speaker of the day. Her paper dealt with the Cuban and immigration questions. A picturesque feature was the presentation of a beau-tiful Indian sweet hay basket from Mrs. Horace Nicolar, president of the first club of Indian women in the world, the Wahba-Naki. Mrs. Nicolar made the basket with her own hands, and the design was both unique and artistic. Miss Marcherita Arlina Hamm spoke upon "Civics in the Public Schools." of the Republican Women's Union League Club, of

MISS WILLARD'S PLANS.

Cnicago, Nov. 26.-Miss Frances E. Willard did not sail for England on November 24, although her passage had been engaged on the St. Louis. The change made in her plans at Buffalo will keep her in this country for some time. The Chicago Woman's Club will give a reception in her honor to-morrow.

CROKERS PLANS IN KINGS.

BERNARD J. YORK SAID TO HAVE BE-COME HIS ALLY.

TAMMANY'S LEADER WANTS TO CRUSH M'LAUGH-LIN AS WELL AS HILL, AND YORK IS TO BE

BOSS OF THE BOROUGH AS A REWARD FOR DESERTING THE WILL LOUGHBY-ST. CHIEF.

The report was current in Brooklyn last night that Bernard J. York, chairman of the Kings County Democratic Executive Committee, had accepted a commission from Richard Croker as Tammany Hall's "boss" in Kings County. In accepting this commission it is said Mr. York agreed to fight Hugh McLaughlin, who made him and whose mouthpiece he has been for several years.

York visited Croker at his New-York office yesterday morning. Croker told him that the fight against Hill was to be pursued relentlessly. and that he, York, must put himself on record at once as to whether he was for Hill and Mc-Laughlin on the one hand or Tammany and Murphy on the other. None of the Greater New-York patronage was to be given to any one who would not place himself on record against Hill. York is reported to have weighed his ambition against gratitude to McLaughlin and to have decided to take up arms for a war of extermination against McLaughlin.

All this bears out the statement that Croker s trying to make himself absolute dictator of all of the Greater New-York and of New-York State. The fact that McLaughlin declared openly for Hill gave Croker the excuse for which he was waiting to crush, if possible, McLaughlin, who stands in the way of Croker's control of Brooklyn.

If it is true that York has agreed to endeavor to suppliant his chief, and is to have some of Van Wyck's patronage with which to win the organization from McLaughlin, the fiercest internecine war that the Kings County Democracy has ever seen will begin.

Hugh McLaughlin is in New-Jersey with his wife, but as soon as he hears rumors of rebellion he will return in short time, it is predicted. York was for many years chief clerk of the Kings County Court. Two years ago he was appointed Special Commissioner of Jurors at a salary of $6,000 a year and little to do. For three or four years he has been McLaughlin's orator and active man. He is a lawyer.

SHEEHAN'S COMING RETIREMENT. STATEMENT THAT HE WILL GET OUT JANUARY 1, AND J. F. CARROLL WILL PROBABLY

SUCCEED HIM. From an exceptionally trustworthy source it was learned yesterday that John C. Sheehan will retire from Tammany Hall on January 1. Such action has been foreshadowed for some time. Mr. Sheehan has not been present at any of the recent conferences of the Tammany leaders, has not been off on any trips they have taken, and has practically been ignored in the fascinating pastime of slate-making. It is said that he wishes to get out of politics alto-It is said that he wishes to get out of politics altogether and attend to business solely.

Mr. Sheehan's probable successor is John F. Carroll, the clerk of the Court of General Sessions. It was Mr. Carroll who suggested Judge Van Wyck, for the nomination for Mayor, and he is a warm personal friend of Mr. Croker. State Senator Maurice Featherson has been suggested as a possible successor of Mr. Sheehan. The one who told of Mr. Sheehan's retirement said: "The contest lies between Carroll and Featherson. Carroll is personally strong with Croker and Van Wyck, and may be foisted on the organization, but Featherson is more popular with the rank and file."

It is further declared that the withdrawal of Mr.
Sheehan means that James J. Martin will not get a place under the incoming administration.

THE SALVATION ARMY IN CONVENTION.

BOOMING THE COLONIZATION SCHEME OF ORGANIZATION THE MAIN OBJECT.

The Salvation Army began a "congress" yesterday afternoon at the headquarters, in West Fourteenth-st. The gathering is officially described as being the celebration of "the seventeenth anniver-sary of the invasion of the United States" by the army. In these seventeen years the organization has grown from 7 to 35,000 workers, and from a

The real object of the "congress" is to boom the army's colonization scheme. The army authorities have secured an option on a large tract of land in Colorado, of which they will secure possession when they raise $50,000. Of this sum $20,000 has already been pledged. The meeting yesterday began with an officers' council in the afternoon, presided over by Colonel William Brewer, the commander of the Greater New-York Division. the Greater New-York Division. This meeting was largely social, the officers present informally telling of their experiences in different parts of the country. The great meeting of the series will be held at Carnegie Hall next Tuesday evening. Commander and Consul Booth-Tucker will preside jointly, and among the vice-presidents will be ex-Governor Flower. General Tracy, Boiton Hall, Justice MacLean, Bishop McCabe, the Rev. Dr. Greer, the Rev. Charles Cuthbert Hall and others.

Last evening's session began with a welcome to visiting officers and soldiers. Commander Booth-Tucker, with the National and divisional staff, were seated on the platform. The commander opened the session, and later made a Scriptural address. Afterward Colonel Brewer led a testimony meeting. There were soldiers dressed in the costumes of almost every nation on the platform, and those who represented Ireland, Russia and Italy took part in the exercises. At 11 o'clock all the corps in the city and vicinity united in a midnight parade through the slums.

PAST THE CENTURY MARK.

MRS. H. B. TOWNSEND CELEBRATES HER 101ST RIRTHDAY

Mrs. H. B. Townsend celebrated her 101st birthday at her home, in Roslyn, yesterday. Townsend, who lives with her daughter, Mrs. Thurston, was visited by many of her children, Thurston, was visited by many or her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Mrs. Townsend is in remarkably good health for a person of her years, being in possession of all her faculties. For several years Mrs. Townsend's birthday has been looked forward to by her relatives and neighbors as a festive affair, and yesterday was no exception.

TO FORM AN INDEPENDENT CHURCH.

SOUTHERN COLORED PRESBYTERIANS IN SES-SION IN BIRMINGHAM

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 27 (Special).—Southern colored Presbyterians, with an advisory board from the Southern and Northern General Assemblies, are in session at the First Presbyterian Church, in this city, the object being the forma-tion of an independent colored Church of National tion of an independent colored Church of National jurisdiction. The convention was called to order this afternoon by Dr. G. T. Goetchius, of Rome, Ga., Moderator of the Southern General Assembly. He read an account of the action of the General Assembly and of the independent colored Presbyterians favoring the project, after which the Rev. L. J. Washington, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., was elected Moderator, and the Rev. E. W. Benjamin, of Vicksburg, Miss., clerk.

After appointment of committees the matter of organizing a colored Presbyterian Church was referred to the Committee on Resolutions, which will report to-morrow. The report will favor the separate Church and will probably be adopted, although it is said that some of the colored ministers are reluctant to attempt to sail their own ship after being directed by their white brethren for thirty years.

SPANISH ANARCHISTS ON TRIAL.

ONE SWEARS THAT A CONFESSION WAS EX-TORTED FROM HIM BY TORTURE.

Barcelona, Nov. 26.-Great interest is felt in the trial now in progress here of two men, Callis and Enrique, accused by Ascherl, instigator of the comb-throwing outrage during the procession of Corpus Christi in the spring of last year, of throw ing bombs at a strike meeting in 1886, when several persons were killed and many others injured. Callis was lately condemned to twenty years' im-

Callis was lately condemned to twenty years' imprisonment as an accomplice of Ascheri in the Corpus Christi procession outrage. At his trial on that charge he confessed himself guilty of the bombthrowing of 1886. Brought now to trial on that confession, he alleges that it was extorted from him by testion at Montjuich Fortress, and his statement torture at Montjuich Fortress, and his statement that he was subjected to torture is confirmed by the testimony of other convicts called as witnesses.

Enrique, arraigned with him, on the charge of homb-throwing in 1886, whas acquitted to-day. With regard to the assertion of Callis that he was tortured, Lieutenant Portias and others called for the prosecution, deny that there is any truth in the story, and the weight of evidence is against Callis.

The Public Prosecutor demands a sentence of imprisonment for life in his case.

WELL MATCHED.

From The Cleveland Plain Dealer. "I believe." said General Weyler, as he laid down a bundle of New-York newspapers, "that Dick Croker and I could run a neck and neck race for the unpopularity stakes!"

PEARY TELLS OF HIS PLANS.

HE SAILS FOR EUROPE TO-DAY TO LECTURE BEFORE THE ROYAL AND SCOTTISH GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETIES-WILL MAKE A "DASH FOR THE POLE" IN JULY.

When the Cunarder Lucania swings out from her pier on the North River at 6:30 o'clock this morning she will have among her passengers Lieutenant Robert E. Peary, of Arctic fame, and his wife. The explorer goes to London to deliver a lecture before the Royal Geographical Society on December 6 and later before the Scottish Geographical Society at Edinburgh, on his various expeditions. At his home, No. 177 Schermerhorn-st., Brooklyn, last night. Lieutenant Peary said: "After lecturing in Edinburgh I will go to Dundee Peterhead and Aberdeen to look over the whaling fleet there and pick out a vessel of from 300 to 500 tons register for my next expedition to the North Pole, which will probably clear from New-York the latter part of July and will occupy from two to five years. I will take back the Esquimaus now suffering from the frightfully changeable weather of this neighborhood and who are now in Bellevue Hospital. Besides them I will take a surgeon and one other white man. The cost of the expedition for five years will be from $100,000 to $150,000, and friends of mine in New-York have provided the funds.

"My main object, of course, is to extend scientific observations in that region as far as may be practicable. My previous work has been overland, now it will be by way of the sea, along the northwest coast of Greenland. The first stopping place will be Whale Sound, where I will take on my Esquimaus. Then I will establish a colony at Sherard Osbone, about $\mathbb{Z}$ degrees north latitude, and push on to the northerly limit of the land, and from there across the sea ice toward the pole. If everything goes well the work may be accomplished in two years, but I will have necessary supplies and Esquimaus for five years. I feel there are very good chances of success, or I would not undertake the trip. It seems to me that conditions are favorable.

Lieutenant Peary still thinks that Andrée has at least an even chance for his personal safety, but only one chance in a thousand to accomplish what he aimed at.

Speaking of the doubt that Nansen had thrown ticable. My previous work has been overland, now what he aimed at.

Speaking of the doubt that Nansen had thrown upon the genuineness of the meteorite which Peary recently brought from the Arctic regions, the Lieutenant said: "Nansen spoke hastily upon his arrival, but when he found he was wrong he frankly and courteously admitted his error. The impression has gone abroad that there is some feeling over the matter between Nansen and myself, but that is not true. I have the utmost admiration for Nansen and the magnificent work he has done."

A GIFT FROM MARYLAND BOYS.

THE FORTY-SEVENTH REGIMENT RECEIVES A TABLET FROM THE FOURTH REGI-MENT OF THAT STATE.

The 67th Regiment, Colonel John G. Eddy, received a tablet from the officers of the 4th Maryland Regiment on Wednesday night, after the annual re-Brigadier-General McLeer at the armory, Marcey-ave, and Lynch-st. The gift was in appreciation of the reception of the Maryland boys on Decoration Day last, when they paraded with the the armory just before 10 o'clock. The presentation address was made by Lieutenant-Colonel J. Frank Supplee, who is a candidate for United States Senator from Maryland. In describing the tablet, Lieutenant-Colonel Supplee said that it was the work of Captain Louis Smith, of the 4th, who marched with the Second Battalion of that organization in this city in May last. The work is known as pyrography the etching being done on wood with a hot plati-num point. It consists of a figure of Brooklyn extending to another figure, representing Baltimore, her hand, containing a key; also, a dish of fruits.

Above the two figures are the crests of the 4th Maryland and the 47th Brooklyn, intertwined, and over the latter the coats of arms of Maryland, New-York and of the United States. The coats of arms of Baltimore and of Brooklyn are held by little cuplds at the feet of the two principal figures. A zinc tablet in the lower right-hand corner contains this inscription:

inscription:
Forty-seventh Regiment, N. G. S. N. Y.
Comrades: With the open hand of friendship extended and with much heartfelt appreciation, the 4th Regiment of Infantry, Maryland National Guard sends you fraternal greetings in remembrance of your unbounded courtesy and hospitality to the Second Battalion of this command during their visit to Brooklyn, N. Y., on Memorial Day, May 31, 1897, which henceforth to them will be a day of pleasant and precious memory. WILLARD HOWARD, Col. 4th Inf., Md. N. G. Franklin P. Swazey, Major the Inf., Md. N. G. Commanding Second Battalion.

Baltimore, Md., June 5, 1897.

Besides Lieutenant-Colonel Supplee and Major

Besides Lieutenant-Colonel Supplee and Major Swazey, there were present from the 4th Maryland Regiment, Colonel Willard Howard, Captain John Jay, assistant surgeon; Captain John A. Hoffman, ordnance officer; Battalion Adjutant Ernest Fetzer, Capitali Louis Schmidt, Lieutenant E. H. J. Stesch, Sergeant Standard-Bearer S. Glison, Sergeant Lee Rice, Sergeant-Major John Tully and Sergeant Ira W. Fonshill.

WHAT THE EMBURY WILL CASE MEANT. Albany, Nov. 26.-The decision handed down by the Court of Appeals last Tuesday in the Embury will case will cause the State to lose $100,000 in collateral inheritance taxes. The Inheritance Tax law of 1885 did not make the personal property of non-resident decedents taxable. The Legislature of 1887 sought to remedy this defect, but a fatal error crept into the bill. This deficiency in the law was corrected by the Legislature of 1822. Surgary of the Court, dismissed thirteen with the mandate of the Court, dismissed thirteen cases involving $356,000, and the Surrogates throughout the State will have to dismiss all similar cases pending before them. The Court's decision does not affect cases in which the non-resident decedents died since 1892. the Court of Appeals last Tuesday in the Embury

RECALLED BY PATRIOTS.

EVACUATION DAY CELEBRATED BY THE SONS OF THE REVOLUTION.

A DINNER AT DELMONICO'S AND ADDRESSES BY THE REV. DR. GEORGE R. VAN DE WATER. PROFESSOR WILLIAM M. SLOANE.

MAYOR STRONG AND CON-TROLLER FITCH.

The New-York Society of the Sons of the Revolution celebrated the litth anniversary of Evacuation Day last evening with a banquet at the new Deimonico's. The members of the society assembled in the small ballroom before the dinner, and there an informal reception was held. about two hundred and fifty of the Sons sat down at the five long tables that had been arranged in the big ballroom, where the first large dinner was held on Tuesday night. The anniversary of Evacua-tion Day was on Thursday, but the holiday compelled the postponement of the celebration to last night. The principal after-dinner speakers were Professor William M Sloane, of Columbia University, and the Rev. Dr. George R. Van De Water. Professor Sloane had some interesting things to say about the prevalent discontent among certain classes, while Dr. Van De Water spoke strongly against the spirit that would foment trouble between this country and England.

The president of the New-York Society of the Sons of the Revolution, Frederick S. Talimadge, sons of the Revolution, Frederick S. Indiana presided over the dinner, and, after calling the diners to order, introduced the Rev. Dr. Brockholst Morgan, chaplain of the society, who said grace. At the guests' table, on either side of Mr. Tallmadge, sat Mayor Strong, Professor Sloane, the Rev. Dr. George R. Van De Water, Ashbel P. Fitch, ex-Postmaster Charles W. Dayton, the Rev. Dr. Brockholst Morgan, Frederick Clarkson, Professor Johnson, General A. C. Barnes, A. B. Valentine, Lieutenant-Governor Woodruff, Major-General George H. Sharpe, Smith Ely, Warner Miller, W. W. Hoppin, O. D. Munn and Cyrus Clark.

DECORATION OF THE HALL. The beautiful hall was decorated with the seal of the society, English and American flags draped together, and flags like those carried by the Colonial troops in the battles of the Revolution. Before the dinner and during its progress there was considerable quiet talk among the delegates regarding the annual election of officers, which is to be held at Delmonico's. It is rumored that an opposition ticket will enter the field this year against the regular ticket, headed by Frederick S. Tallmadge, the present president. This ticket will be led, it is said, by the name of Lieutenant-Governor Woodruff as a candidate for president, Judge Isaac N. Mills, of White Plains, is said to be the opposition candidate for vice-president. The meeting of December 3 is awaited with interest. President Tallmadge arose soon after 9 o'clock, when coffee and cigars had arrived, to call the diners to order and to introduce as the first speak-er of the evening, Mayor Strong, whom he referred to as the Mayor of the Borough of Manhattan. Mayor Strong objected to the title. He didn't like Mayor Strong objected to change the name of the city of which he had been Mayor until the law compelled it, he said He was proud to be the last Mayor of original New-York, and he was assured by a voice from the tables that the Sons of the Revolution were proud to have had him as a Mayor. Mr. Strong proceeded briefly to review some features of his administration. "With the exception of Fifth-ave." he said, "we have the cleanest streets in the country, and Fifth-ave. has its advantages. You can raise there a splendid crop of tomatoes or potatoes, and the residents on that thoroughfare or potatoes, and the residents on that the Mayor said that the departments of the city government were in better order than they had been in fifty years before, and he thought that the Borough of Manhattan had set a good example for the other boroughs of the greater city to follow. The guests cheered the Mayor as he sat down.

PRAISE FROM THE CONTROLLER. Ashbel P. Fitch, who "might have been" Controller of the new city, followed the Mayor. "This onest man who sits on my left," said he, wavir g his hand at Mayor Strong, 'has tried in every way to see that we got an honest value for every dollar we have expended. It may be that Cyrus Clark has misled us into spending more money than we ought on Riverside Drive. Maybe the Mayor's friends who go to Blackwell's Island have got more out of us than they ought to, but we have gone on our way with only the good of the city in mind. I predict that Mayor Strong's administration will long be remembered as one of ministration will long be remembered as one of the best in the long history of New-York.'

The Roy. Dr. George R. Van De Water spoke on the 'Past and Present Relations of England and the United States.' 'We are not here, he said, 'to get over a Thanksativing spree, but to celebrate a historic event—namely, the evacuation of New-York by the British. There is no feud so bitter as a family foud, and we were then having a family row; but times have changed. There are others than English-speaking people in our country to-day, and the relations of England and our country are vastly different. That is the lesson Evacuation Day should teach. It is all very well for the sen to fight with the old man if the old man attempts to force unrighteousness upon him, but just let somebody else attack him, and just see what the son will do. If we taught the father his hand at Mayor Strong, "has tried in every man attempts to force unrighteousness upon him, but just let somebody else attack him, and just see what the son will do. If we taught the father a lesson, we'll allow no man to slander the widowed mother, of whom every true American is proud. Sons of the Revolution, know your own blood. Be men enough to determine that there shall be no war between nations speaking the same language and bound together by every tie. Do all you can to stamp out that carnal, sensual, deviish spirit that seeks a row, and, above all, a row with our own blood lineage." "THEN AND NOW."

Professor Sloane's toast was "Then and Now."

He said in part: "We have heard that a cynic was a man that lived the life of a dog. All after-dinner speakers are cynics until their speeches are spoken. The present-day question is a question of socialism. There are present-day answers to those questions. There are present-day answers to those questions. They are, some of them, the single tax, the inheritance tax and anti-trust laws. We hear that the rich are growing richer and the poor poorer. We hear of the classes and the masses. In short, we hear of the classes and the masses. In short, they give us a set of terms that never sprang from they give us a set of terms that never sprang from the growther. (Applause.) The rich are growing richer, but the poor are growing richer with them. The poor are gainers because capital is content to receive less interest than formerly. There was a time when it wanted is per cent. As it grows more abundant we shall have more of those institutions which, like the Mills Hotel, are content with 2 per cent.

which, like the Mills Hotel, are content with 2 per cent.

"We must be neither pessimists, blind to hopeful signs, nor optimists, walking with our heads in the clouds and not seeing the dangers that beset our feet. Let us believe that the world will grow better if we do our duty as we seek and find it day by day. There is no panasea, no cure-all, and the humdrum man must better conditions by doing his daily duty as he meets it on his way.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

St. Louis, Nov. 26.—The South Side Coursing Associations were to have opened the season here on Thanksgiving Day, in South Side Park, but they were compelled to stop by the Women's Society for the Prevention of Crueity to Animals. Benjamin O'Keefe, Peter Rohan and Emile Miller were arrested, but were released on ball.

San Francisco, Nov. 25.—"The Chronicle" says the Chinese merchants of this city have combined to suppress the murderous Highbinder societies. These business men have signed a compact not to submit to further blackmail, and without their usual income the Highbinders will be forced to leave the city or go to work. Over twenty Highbinder societies are affected by this arrangement. While the exact membership of these societies is not known, it is believed to be in the neighborhood of lifteen hundred.

Lafavette, Ind. Nov. 25.—The Covernment.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 25.—The Government experiment station at Purdue University has found at Hamiet, Stark County, a sugar beet raised from seed, working under directions furnished by the station, which yielded 29.9 per cent of sugar, and had a purity coefficient of 24.5. It is the best sugar ever raised in Indiana. The yield to an acre of washed and trimmed beets was fourteen tons.

Denver, Nov. 26.—Colonel George A. Bute, a prominent mining man of Telluride, Col., is missing, and his friends in Telluride believe he was murdered, as he had a large sum of money when he left that camp. He visited Judge Hallett, in this city, on August 24, and, so far as is known, none of his friends have seen or heard from him since that time. He told Judge Hallett he intended to go to Excelsior Springs, Mo., or to Arizona for three weeks.

Coal City, Ill., Nov. 26.—The strike in the Wilmington coal field is broken. The mines of the mington coal field is broken. The mines of the Mistar Coal Company, the Hig Four Coal Company and the Wilmington Coal Mining and Manufacturing Company resumed work to-day under the 77½-cent scale. Over three thousand men are employed in these mines. in these mines.

St. Louis, Nov. 26.—Madison C, Stookey, of Belleville, Ill., Deputy District Internal Revenue Collector, and one of the best-known men in Southern Hilton's, was found dead to-day under a trestle crossing Wamser Creek, a mile beyond Columbia, Ill. It is supposed that he fell from a train on Thursday night, but much mystery surrounds the case. Mr. Stookey was until recently superintendent of the Belleville waterworks.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 26.—"The Oregonian" announces that arrangements have been made by which the manufacture of linen-mesh underwear from Oregon-grown flax is to be undertaken here by European capitalists. During the present year experiments with flax have been made which show that excellent fibre can be produced in the Willamette Valley.

CONVICT LEASE SYSTEM MAY STAND. | day and % degree higher than on the corresponding day

FARCICAL EFFORTS TO DEAL WITH PRISON RE-FORM IN THE GEORGIA LEGISLATURE.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 26 (Special).-The Georgia House of Representatives never before made a confession of incompetency as it did to-day. Speaker Jenkins felt called on to come down on the floor and declare that, much to his regret and chagrin, the House seemed to be absolutely at sea on the penitentiary question. This speech was provoked by the introduction of a resolution providing that next Tuesday the roll should be called and each member should rise and give his opinion as to whether the present lease system should be renewed or what should be substituted for it. The resolution provided further that a record should be made of all these expressions, then they should be classified, and a committee of three appointed to prepare a bill in accord with the views of the majority. This ridiculous proposition was adopted. There is no possibility that a majority will declare for any definite plan.

The efforts of the Legislature to determine what shall be done with Georgia's 2,500 convicts when the lease system expires on January 1, 1899, have proved farcical. Governor Atkinson submitted a plan at the opening of the present session which provided for abolition of the lease system and the establishment of a State penitentiary and State farm, women and youthful convicts to be worked on the latter. It soon became evident that the Legislature would not follow the Governor's lead, and was not in a mood for anything worthy the name of reform of the present miserable system. It seems probable now that all propositions for abolition of convict leases will be defeated, and that Georgia will continue for years to come a system which has brought her into disrepute abroad and is denounced by the best class of her own people.

Another unpleasant incident in the House to-day was the vote on a bill to declare contracts specified as payable in gold payable in any money that may be a legal tender at their expiration. This was reported unfavorably, but the report was sustained by only four majority. The bill is still on the calendar, and has the ardent support of some of the most influential Democrats in the House as well as all the Populists. They profess confidence in its passage. There is only one negro member, and he voted against this bill to-day. shall be done with Georgia's 2,500 convicts when the

POIRIER'S MURDERER CONFESSES.

HE SAYS MRS. POIRIER URGED HIM TO COMMIT THE CRIME.

Montreal, Nov. 26.-The dead body of Isldore Poirier, a farmer, was found in his house, at St. Canut, on Menday morning. Poirier had undoubtedly been murdered, his body showing many stab wounds and his throat having been cut from ear to ear. Mrs. Poirler said that he had killed himself. The woman at first mude a great show of grief, but later treated the matter lightly. Detectives were sent for and yesterday Mrs. Poirler and a man named Samuel Parslow, who had been paying attention to her, were arrested and charged with the crime.

Parslow made a full confession to Detective McCaskill to-day. He says that on Sunday evening, urged on by Mrs. Poirler, he stabbed Poirler with the butcher knife that was found in the room after the murder was committed. Poirler was in bed and asieep at the time. Mrs. Poirler was there, he says doubtedly been murdered, his body showing many

Mrs. Poirier absolutely denies complicity in the affair. She says she does not know anything about the murder and that she was at her father's house at the time when Parslow says he stabbed

THE LOSS OF THE CYTHERA.

STORY TOLD BY THE ALLEGED COOK, NOW IN A ST. LOUIS HOSPITAL

A story of the mysterious disappearance in the blizzard of 1888 of the yawl yacht Cythera has been told by Ilak Engleson, who is now in a St. Louis hospital. The Cythera was owned by Commodore W. A. W. Stewart, of the Seawanhaka Yacht Club, who, in company with C. S. Lee, owner of the yacht Oriva, sailed from this port on March 10, 1888, for a six months' cruise in the Bermudas. Nothing was ever heard of her or any of the persons on Engleson's story sounds plausible, as he gives Engleson's story sounds plausible, as he gives a description of the boat and how he was engaged for the trip as cook by Mr. Stewart. He says that six days out from port he was brought to the deck by a crash in a dense fog, the yacht foundered in a few minutes and he was in the ley cold water. Soon he found a cabin door to support him. He says that on the next day he was picked up by the steamer Empire, plying between Rio Janeiro and Liverpool. He told his story, but was laughed at, so he says. At Rio he shipped for Madagascar and went through various fortunes until 1896, when he landed in San Francisco. At the house of John A. Stewart, father of commodore Stewart, it was said last night that nothing was known about the truth of this story; it had been printed first several week ago.

ROTHSCHILDS MONEY IN ALASKA.

CAPITAL FROM THE GREAT BANKING FIRM TO

HELP DEVELOP THE GOLD FIELDS, San Francisco, Nov. 25 .- The Rothschilds, through the San Francisco house of Liebes & Co., are about to enter the Alaska trade. Four steamers are being built in sections by W. H. Brick & Co., the owners of the California Machine Works. When this contract is fulfilled the machinery and timbers will be sent to Dutch Harbor, near Unalaska, to up. The firm will then build nine barges in secing, and the barges will likewise be put together at ing, and the barges will likewise of put together.

All of this work is being done for the Alaska Exploration Company, we she was incorporated about four months ago with a capital of $1,000,000. Isaac Liebes said that it is proposed to have the barges and steamer ready for business when the ice breaks in the Yukon in June. He said the Rothschilds are interested in the venture, which was arranged in London five months ago, and there is practically unlimited capital behind it. Hesides a general transportation business, the company will establish trading stations and thoroughly explore the country.

THE VARUNA TO SAIL TO-DAY.

Eugene Higgins and a party of friends will start on a long cruise on Mr. Higgins's steam yacht Varuna this morning. Frank W. J. Hurst, the treasurer of the New-York Yacht Club, is ex-treasurer of the New-York Yacht Club, is expected to be one of Mr. Higgins's guests as far as Bermuda.

The Varuna has been anchored off Stapleton, Staten Island, for some weeks. Last night the crew was busily engaged in storing away provisions for the voyage, which, it is expected, will consume several months. The destination of the yacht has not been definitely announced, though in all probability she will be at Cannes, France, in time for the regattas next spring.

FELL FROM THE FOURTEENTH STORY

AN IRONWORKER WHO LOST HIS FOOTING ID A NEW BUILDING LIKELY TO DIE.

John McCune, of No. 979 Bedford-ave., Brooklyn, a foreman of the iron-fitters employed in the con-struction of the new building at Park Row and Ann-st., fell from the fourteenth to the twelfth story yesterday afternoon, receiving internal injuries which are likely to prove fatal. McCune was adjusting some of the parts of the large derrick used for the holsting of heavy iron beams and girders, and was standing on the boom of the derrick, when he lost his foothold and fell down through the iron framework, landing on a newly constructed brick arch. He had a similar fall some time ago, while working on the Fifth Avenue Hotel, but was not badly hurt.
